

HEMYOCK

Baptist church

July 2010

A Dutch theologian wrote "All work, however costly and well organised, that is not rooted in a church that has found the secret of mutual love, is in the long run powerless". Today we are tempted to put our trust in high tech equipment—computers, websites, e-mails, skype, overhead projectors, and sound systems that can match professional presentations. None of these is wrong in itself, but without the existence of a community of people whose love for each other is displayed in the real world before the eyes of those who are hungering for something different, our witness will be ineffective. On the other hand, the sheer beauty of an alternative Christian community results in more and more men and women turning to Christ and being added to the church.

"GOD CARES"
Liz Mackay

"Have you ever thought that you had gone just too far in life and that God would never accept you again? I have been a committed Christian since I was seven so when I left my husband for another man was God still going to care about me or was he going to send me away from Him forever?
Come and hear how Jesus stayed faithful to me when I was being unfaithful. He will do the same for you if you ask him."
